

Be part of a sustainable future

The City of Aarhus is beautifully located between forest and sea – an obvious motivation to take bold climate action. Our ambitious goal is CO₂ neutrality by 2030. It is not just a goal – it is a promise. And we are already halfway there. But we need your engagement and professional skills to cross the finish line.

We've only come this far because the local business community, scientific-, educational and cultural institutions and the City of Aarhus work closely together on creating a more sustainable future. And a more livable city. Many of Denmark's most climate-ambitious companies and organizations are already located in Aarhus and play an active role in solving the greatest challenges of our time. And we are on the lookout for new talent.

Aarhus is ranked the 3rd most sustainable destination in the world. If you choose it as your next hometown, you will experience a city that is truly committed to creating an attractive place for everybody to work, study, live, and thrive. And that's a promise too!
